

This interview may contain forward-looking information within the meaning of applicable securities laws. All information and statements other than statements of current or historical facts contained in this interview are forward-looking information. Such statements and information may be identified by words such as "about", "approximately", "may", "believes", "expects", "will", "intends", "should", "plans", "predicts", "potential", "projects", "anticipates", "estimates", "continues", or similar words or the negative thereof or other comparable terminology. Forward-looking statements are subject to various risks and uncertainties concerning the specific factors disclosed here and elsewhere in GoviEx's periodic filings with Canadian securities regulators. Information provided in this interview is necessarily summarized and may not contain all available material information.

Forward-looking statements include, without limitation, statements regarding the expected timing of the development and potential advancement to production of GoviEx's mine-permitted projects; the expected recovery of the market price of uranium and anticipated direct and indirect effects of an increasing uranium market price on GoviEx's share price and its ability to advance its mine-permitted projects towards production with an improving uranium market cycle; the anticipated ability for GoviEx to further optimize its mine-permitted projects; the expected continued support from major shareholders of the Company and the support of the mining industry in general by the local governments in the jurisdictions where the Company's projects are located; and continued efforts to secure debt financing and off-take arrangements required to advance GoviEx's mine-permitted projects towards mine construction.

Forward-looking statements are based on a number of assumptions and estimates that, while considered reasonable by management based on the business and markets in which GoviEx operates, are inherently subject to significant operational, economic, and competitive uncertainties and contingencies.

Forward-looking statements are based on the reasonable assumptions, estimates, analysis, and opinions of management made in light of its experience and its perception of trends, current conditions, and expected developments, as well as other factors that management believes to be relevant and reasonable in the circumstances at the date that such statements are made, but which may prove to be incorrect. Management believes that the assumptions and expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable. Assumptions upon which forward-looking statements have been made in this interview include: (i) continued depletion of uranium inventories giving rise to increased demand and an increased uranium price and the long-term fundamentals of the uranium market remaining strong thereafter; (ii) the Company's various project resulting in a pipeline of project development; the practice of engaging locals from the jurisdictions where the Company's projects are located resulting in risk mitigation of the subject projects; (iii) the Company's major shareholders remaining as shareholders of the Company; (iv) the continuation of support of the mining industry in general and the Company's projects in particular by the local governments in the jurisdictions where the Company's projects are located; (v) the Company's ability to optimize its projects so as to make them attractive to new investors; (vi) GoviEx will not encounter any financial, legal, regulatory, political, environmental, technical, health or other obstacles that will materially impede its ability to successfully pursue its planned exploration and development activities and business plans; (vii) the price of uranium will increase sufficiently and the costs of advancing GoviEx's mining projects will remain sufficiently low so as to permit GoviEx to implement its business plans in a viable manner; (viii) GoviEx will be able to obtain the requisite financing and off-take arrangements to advance the Company's projects towards mine construction; and (ix) GoviEx's will be able to have an update

Pre-feasibility Study and thereafter Feasibility Study completed on its Madaouela Project in Niger.

Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from expectations include: (i) the failure of GoviEx's projects, for technical, logistical, labour-relations, regulatory, or other reasons; (ii) a decrease in the price of uranium below what is necessary to sustain GoviEx's operations; (iii) an increase in GoviEx's operating costs above what is necessary to sustain its operations; (iv) accidents, labour disputes, political instability, or the materialization of similar risks; (v) a deterioration in capital market conditions that prevents GoviEx from raising the funds it requires on a timely basis; and (vi) generally, GoviEx's inability to develop and implement a successful business plan for any reason. In addition, the factors described or referred to in the section entitled "Financial Risks and Management Objectives" in the MD&A for GoviEx for the year-ended December 31, 2018, available at www.sedar.com, should be reviewed in conjunction with the information found in this interview.

Although GoviEx has attempted to identify important factors that could cause actual results, performance, or achievements to differ materially from those contained in the forward-looking statements, there can be other factors that cause results, performance, or achievements not to be as anticipated, estimated, or intended. There can be no assurance that such information will prove to be accurate or that management's expectations or estimates of future developments, circumstances, or results will materialize. As a result of these risks and uncertainties, the results or events predicted in these forward-looking statements may differ materially from actual results or events. Accordingly, readers should not place undue reliance on forward-looking statements. The forward-looking statements in this interview are made as of the date of this interview, and GoviEx disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise such information, except as required by applicable law.

Cautionary Note to United States Investors: This interview and the disclosure contained herein does not constitute an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy securities of GoviEx Uranium Inc.